FAY B. BARDWELL, { Whately, Mass.

LYMAN A. CRAFTS, Auditor.

Selectmen's Report.

The Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor having attended to their duties as defined by the Statutes, and in accordance with the instructions of the Town, respectfully submit the following report of expenditures in the several departments of your Town affairs, which have been duly examined by your Auditor.

On January 17, we were shocked by the sudden departure from this life of our esteemed Chairman, Mr. Seth B. Crafts, whose valuable services and wise counsel have been appreciated and loyally supported by the voters and inhabitants of this Town for many years.

We feel that the cheerfulness and public spirit of Mr. Crafts should be taken as an example by the younger voters of this Town, that they may be prepared to uphold and maintain our dignity as a Town, and receive the honorable mention in future history which we feel is due Mr. Crafts. Our experience, gained through association with him and his fair and conscientious dealing in relation to all matters has been pleasant and agreeable, and in expressing the general sentiment of our fellow citizens we are pleased to add "Well done good and faithful servant."

HIGHWAYS

After careful consideration we deemed it wise to change the course of the brook at the foot of Spruce Hill, doing away with two culverts which were in bad shape and expensive to repair. This work was accomplished at considerable cost, but we believe it will be a good investment for the Town in the end. The roads were badly damaged in the west part of the Town by a violent shower in August, necessitating another heavy outlay for their repair.

POOR

The expenditures in the Pauper Department for the past year have been $341.52 a trifle more than last year, caused by aid rendered Joseph Podlarsky, which is to be reimbursed by the State.

The library has been well patronized the past year. Our source of gratification was the visit of Miss Ida Farrar of the Springfield library who declares we have one of the best assortment of books she has found in any small town. It will be seen our appropriation was smaller this year, a mistake we believe, when it is also seen that the return from the dog fund is also less. There are several volumes that need rebinding, and should our income be no larger than the last year, we cannot hope to do this and add many new books.

Report of School Committee

We submit the following report:

The expenses of the schools have not varied much from those of years past. With the exception of the painting and papering of the school rooms, we have made no decided improvements during the past year.

We suggest that the Town build a suitable three room building in the center to accommodate all the children from the North Center and the South Center, also the seventh, eighth and ninth grades from East Whately, and possibly some of the children in the lower grades who are now being carried to the South East school. This will reduce the number of pupils in the South East school, so there would be plenty of room for the remaining pupils, and one teacher could easily handle them.

We also suggest that the South West school house be taken down and moved to a central location, so that the pupils in the North West and South West districts can be equally accommodated.

By this arrangement, sufficient room and better advantages can be given to every pupil and a less amount of money would be required for transportation.

We recommend the following appropriations:

Superintendent's Report.

To the School Committee of Whately:

Gentlemen:— I herewith submit to you and to the people of Whately my sixth annual report as Superintendent of your schools.

During the past year it has been our aim, in so far as was in our power, to foster and encourage that which was good in our schools and to eliminate the poor and ineffective.

No course of action has been decided upon, and no money expended without first determining whether or not the education of the children would best be carried on by that means.

In this connection it is pertinent to ask just what the school owes to the child. In the first place it must protect the physical well being of the child—an abundant supply of fresh air at the proper temperature should be supplied to every school room. It is not unusual to have a room become disorderly and ungovernable simply because the children were physically unable to be "good." There was not enough oxygen in the air to keep pure blood in their bodies, and inattention, mischief and insubordination was the natural result. If active, growing children are to be kept in our school rooms for five hours each day, it is the sacred duty of the public to provide the best system of heating and ventilation obtainable. Our school rooms at present cannot be properly heated or ventilated and it is to be hoped that before another year this condition of things will be remedied.

If "centralization" is not to be had, then some other way of meeting the needs of the pupils should be found, but whatever plan is finally adopted, let it be something in which the rights of the school children are respected and something upon which all can agree.

In the second place, the school must provide such training as will tend to produce men and women of use to the community. To do this the moral element in education must not be lost sight of. The intellectual, important as it is and must be, is of importance only as it helps develop the moral nature. By this I do not mean that the strictly intellectual work of the schools should be neglected. On the contrary, thorough accurate work must be insisted upon since the habit of doing work carelessly or incompletely will injure a boy through his whole life. Not only will it injure him in any business he may undertake, but it will bind in him a carelessness in regard to moral questions that he may never overcome.

This brings us to a consideration of what is expected of our teachers. It is not enough that they be absolutely loyal as well as faithful, conscientious and hard working, commendable as are these characteristics, more important than all else, the teacher must have the tact, the sympathetic insight, the love and the genuine interest necessary to win and hold our boys and girls. Scholarship is desirable, but character and common sense and the gift of making friends with boys is indispensable.

By way of illustration let me indicate what some of the best teachers are doing. Early in the year before any unpleasantness has had time to occur they try to create the most friendly relations with the homes from which their pupils come. The first thing a teacher must do is to become acquainted with the individuals of her class, and to do this she must know the homes from which they come. The teacher who goes in a friendly spirit to the homes of her pupils with some word of commendation or encouragement predisposes in her favor both parents and pupils, and takes a long step toward discovering criticism and avoiding misunderstandings. The teacher who cannot or will not do this may not be a failure but she certainly will fail to attain the degree of success she might.

Again the wise teacher wins the confidence of her pupils by convincing them of her genuine interest in their individual welfare, her fairness and her good judgement. Under no circumstances will she destroy the self respect of any pupil, however bad, knowing that this is her strongest ally upon which she can depend in developing character.

Teachers of training, character and genuine human instinct should be sought and, when secured, should be offered every possible inducement to remain. The additional cost of a good teacher ought not to be a consideration since the money paid a poor teacher is practically wasted, in some cases worse than wasted because of the injury done to the intellects and characters of the pupils.

During the last few years the salaries of teachers in this town have been advanced somewhat but it is doubtful if this increase more than balances the increased cost of board and other living expenses. Doubtless it will be necessary to continue to advance the salaries of those teachers who are doing exceptionally good work for, unless this is done, the neighboring towns with higher salaries secure them. To keep good teachers in our schools their salaries must advance as their usefulness increases.

The matter of school room decoration is one that is receiving more attention year by year. During the school year children spend more of their waking hours in the school room than in any other place and the effect of dismal or cheerful surroundings is much greater on them than on adults. These things influence their attitude toward school work to a much greater extent than is generally realized. Some attempt has been made to render the interior of our school rooms attractive although they do not lend themselves readily to decoration. They are still sadly lacking in good pictures while in some cases there are too many poor ones. Then, too, the exteriors of the buildings, particularly the one in the center and the one in the East part of the town, are far from attractive. They were planned before people began to realize the effect of environment on character. The grounds surrounding all the buildings are unsightly and, if school must be maintained in them even for one more year, I would suggest that steps be taken to improve their appearance.

The subject of vaccination is one that should also receive your attention during the coming year. Only a small percentage of the pupils in town have been vaccinated and, with our large alien population among whom it is difficult to enforce quarantine restrictions, the danger of an epidemic of small pox is very real. Even a few cases of this disease, if traceable to the schools, would give grounds for serious criticism.

For the information of parents the following communication has been prepared and will be sent before the spring vacation to every family in town in which there are children attending school :

South Deerfield, Mass., Feb. 1, 1909.

Dear Sir (or Madam)

Your attention is respectfully called to the State Law in regard to vaccination as printed on the back of this card.

We do not wish to deprive any pupil of the opportunity to attend school but, it is earnestly urged that you give this matter your attention at the earliest possible date, not only for the protection of your own children but also for the protection of others in the community.

Yours very truly,

MYRON J. WILLSON,

Superintendent of Schools.

VACCINATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN:

[Chap. 44, Sec. 6, as amended by Chap. 371, Acts of 1906, and Chap. 215, Acts of 1907.]

"A child who has not been vaccinated shall not be admitted to a public school except upon presentation of a certificate granted for cause stated therein, signed by a regular practicing physician that he is not a fit subject for vaccination."

I would call your attention to the reports of the Supervisor of Music and Drawing and also to the report of the Medical Inspector which follows this report. The usual statistics in regard to attendance are also given. These show there was an increase in average membership last year over the previous year of about 14 per cent. and an increase of about 18 per cent in average attendance.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the members of the school committee and the parents for their support and for the interest they have shown during the last year. I would also express to the teachers my appreciation of their unfailing loyalty and their willingness to act upon suggestions given them.

On behalf of the teachers, and for myself, I would cordially invite all who are interested in the welfare of the pupils in town to visit the schools as frequently as possible and see for themselves the work that is being done.

Respectfully submitted,

MYRON J. WILLSON,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

To Mr. M. J. Willson, Superintendent of Schools :

Dear Sir;—Music has been carried on this year with practically the same results as heretofore.

Individual singing holds as usual a prominent position. A gain has been made in the amount of technical work done and more written lessons have been given.

For drill the schools have been divided into sections, three or even more if necessary, this being made possible by the aid of the assistant teacher. In this way a more uniform progress is made, each section getting its share of attention.

The children all sing together their songs, the upper grades taking the lower parts, and the lower grades the soprano, the very youngest ones learning the songs by rote.

It is always a pleasure to meet, in my visits to the schools parents or friends of the pupils, who have come to see for themselves what is being accomplished.

Yours truly,

BELLE BULLIS,

Supervisor of Music.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING

To Mr. M. J. Willson, Superintendent of Schools :

Dear Sir:—It is impossible in the district schools to give in a single year work that is best adapted to individual grades. I have made it my object to take up especially such branches as seem essential, but in which the schools may be least proficient. I have also tried to vary the program by presenting in new terms, yet comprehensive, some of the fundamental principles which of necessity are repeated from year to year

The plan seems to have been successful as the results are satisfactory, and interest on the part of the children is not lacking.

Thanks are due the teachers who have so heartily given their co-operation and to the Superintendent whose support I greatly acknowledge.

Respectfully submitted,

LUCILE GRAVESTEIN,

Supervisor of Drawing,

REPORT OF MEDICAL EXAMINER.

To Mr. M. J. Willson, Superintendent of Schools :

During the last year it has been my duty as examiner to visit each school at least once and my work has been largely on the same plan as the previous year, leaving the teachers to test the hearing and sight of the pupils.

Some improvement has been shown in respect to the care given by parents to their childrens' heads, yet there is sufficient reason for continued vigilance in this regard. I feel that it is necessary to call attention to personal cleanliness in the care of hands and faces especially in the East Whately school. I have seen no improvement in this respect; nor has there been any improvement in the schools and their surroundings. What I reported a year ago is still true today. In the school in the east part of the Town, 10 children are seated in a single small room with but one door and one window in a space so small that three persons could not be properly accommodated.

In December an epidemic of scarlet fever broke out among children of the Center school making it necessary to close the school a week earlier for the Christmas vacation that it might be thoroughly fumigated. Right here I think is an appropriate time to urge the advisability of setting aside or erecting a suitable building for an isolation hospital that would be available for such epidemics. This could be done without the outlay of much money and a suitable rental could be charged of the parents whose children were sick who would find it a great convenience and a safeguard against the continual exposure to other members of the family.

In closing I wish to state your school buildings are not adequate to the demands made upon them and the time has come when a modern building should be erected or the old ones improved.

Respectfully submitted,

C. A. WHITE, M. D.
